

LadyNimue:

>I'm having a difficult time finding a legible source. I can't make out all of the words. I'm not using the >Hebrew characters. I'm using ABC, latin forms (Elohim, Tetragrammaton, Adonay, etc.).

>

>Got any ideas????

The names around the circle are pretty standard medieval planetary correspondences. The Goetia says "...the Divine Names are to be written around it, beginning at EHYEH (God name of the Primum Mobile) and ending at LEVANAHA (Luna)". This is a reference to the names found in the appendix, Ars Nova. The writing on the circle is simply those names, e.g. "Eheieh. Kether. Haitoth. Metatron. Reschith. Hagalgalim. PM (denoting Primum Mobile). Jehova. Adonay. Ophanim. Iophiel. Masloth. SZ (sphere of Zodiac)..." and so on. -- Phil

Hey, I find it works best for me to use Chalk. If your working on carpet then, I bet that the wide Duct tape works best, you could just write on that.

About names though, I use my own variety. I put them down like this: I place a Hexagram on the top(east), then I write, starting on the right of the Hexagram:

Tetragrammaton * AGLA * Adonai * El Shaddai * Eheieh * YHVH * Laviathan

Then on the middle circle I put the Archangels names, Signils, Planetary symbols, on the right directions. The inner circle I just put the names of the planetary powers in Kabbala.

I hope this helps a little. By the way I part all my names and symbols with a equal armed cross. I do however leave the angels with their symbols and planet unbroken. L.L. --- Jared KK